

Cllr Hallows and Pat Smith attended a climate action meeting in Devoran on 24 January and the parish council is hoping to arrange a similar talk in the parish shortly to get members of the community and students to come along and get involved in what we are trying to do. Pat will be attending the St Austell Bay and Clays Climate Change Workshop on 30 January. We are working through the actions listed in the 'What Can Your Council Do?' document and one of the first actions the parish council is taking is to trial some environmentally friendly cleaning products in the hall. When the current electricity contract for the hall and public toilets runs out, the council will investigate switching to a supplier who can deliver 100% renewable energy.
